You are invited to share in two hours of inspiration and motivation with Ismael Cala.

Ismael Cala is a life and business strategist, best-selling author, and international speaker who specializes in personal development and mindful leadership. As the former host of CALA, a CNN en Espanol primetime talk show that reached more than 46 million households in the United States and Latin America, Cala became one of the most famous Hispanic speakers in the region.

The man who the New York Times has described as "the Latino Larry King" remains a writer and thought-provoking leader; he is the author of articles featured in fifty-five publications, as well as eight best-selling books, and is the founder and president of CALA Enterprises Corporation, a production company focused on leadership, mindfulness, productivity, and cultural excellence. Cala is also one of the most important contributors to Hispanic-focused projects created by experts such as John C. Maxwell and Deepak Chopra. As a sought-after inspirational speaker in Latin America and the United States, Cala addresses more than 250,000 people each year. He has consulted with more than 400 companies on topics ranging from exponential mindful leadership to emotional intelligence at work.

CHG would like to share the gift of our Leadership Academy and the genius of Ismael Cala with you!

We are thrilled to invite you and your staff to join us and Ismael Cala at a special mini-conference designed to provide you with a taste of our highly-praised and very effective motivational speakers. We realize that allowing staff time away from the office can mean scheduling changes; but we have also experienced impressive results by giving employees a forum in which to build their skills, re-energize their professional commitment, re-dedicate themselves to service, and truly discover their best selves. Such outcomes are invaluable to the individual and to the organization.

Needless to say, we offer this invitation because we are so excited by the success of our program and want to share its potential for transformation with you and your team. All of us at CHG hope that you will consider the possibilities that Ismael Cala and our Leadership Academy may open for your organization. We look forward to welcoming you and your staff personally to our mini-conference.
